

Fr. David's Weekly Schedule

I function best with a rhythm to the week and the day. Obviously, schedules get adapted in response to unpredictable moments.

(Note: Now that we have resumed pre-COVID office hours, I am moving my study day from Tuesday to Thursday and will be in the office on Tuesdays.)

But, in an "ideal" week, my intended schedule continues to be:

Monday-Office most of the day

Tuesday-Wednesday - Mornings in the office (9:30 or so on) and afternoons out and about.

Sunday-Wednesday evenings-visits and meetings.

Thursday - Study and prayer day at the rectory.

Friday off and 1/2 Saturday off.

Sunday--worship, meetings, and visits.

The office door remains open unless I'm in a conference, and you're always free to drop in. And, the rectory porch is a great place to visit (except when too cold or too warm).

Peace, David
